Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

support by way of the subpad retention element, the subpad being located between the subpad support and the polishing pad. See specifically figures 7 and 8.

b. Regarding claims 6 and 10, since applicant has not recited that the rigid structure is separate from the subpad, this feature is considered to be met by Meyer et al.

d. Regarding claims 14 and 15, the pressure elements disclose in figure 2b function as subpad access elements since they move the subpad(252) away from the polishing pad.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 4, 7, ⁹8, 16, and 20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
